

Training Update

Update from Regional Head of Education – Hunter, Manning and Central Coast

At this stage, many of you will be starting a new term in general practice. For those beginning in a new post, I hope you benefit from new people, processes and presentations. For those staying on in the same practice, maybe you will get to appreciate the longer term relationships and opportunities for chronic care that are integral to GP.

There are a few important things worth mentioning that may help you get the most out of your term. Firstly, make sure you are thoroughly oriented to a new practice. Ask if you're not sure.

It is very important that your teaching time is scheduled and protected from interruptions, running late or fit-in appointments. You will get the most out of a session if you and your supervisor plan it a week ahead. Early in the term it is vital that your supervisor sees you in action. This means sitting in with you for one or two consultations and giving you feedback. This can be done as one of your scheduled teaching hours and can also include a discussion of what you need and want to learn.

While group teaching has its place, it is recommended that at least once a month you have one-to-one time with your supervisor so that your individual needs are met. You may need to be proactive about organising this.

The first half of the year has seen the registrar workshop program establish itself in its new base in our Newcastle office. Your feedback has been very positive in the main and we are working on making the improvements many of you have suggested. In the second half of the year we will be running a workshop for all registrars in their third term and beyond as well as one for hospital-based registrars. The dates are in the events calendar in GPRime2.

If you haven't already had a look, take some time to check out the modules in SupportGPT, available via the Quick Links and Subscriptions tab in GPRime2. At this stage only registrars in first and second GP terms have access. The ResourceGPT module is a comprehensive source of guidelines, articles, websites and cases. It is very useful for your day-to-day learning as well as for exam preparation.

Many of you have now successfully completed your exams. The pass rate in the most recent RACGP OSCE was 89% in this subregion. Congratulations! For those contemplating sitting the RACGP 2018.1 exam, your preparation should be starting now. If you are unsure how to approach it or whether to sit it at all this time around, please discuss with your medical educator as soon as possible.

All the best for the second half of the year. Look forward to seeing you soon.

Dr Tony Saltis | Regional Head of Education – Hunter New England Central Coast

Have you tried SupportGPT – the online in-practice teaching tool for supervisors and registrars?

SupportGPT is an online in-practice teaching resource for supervisors, and registrars in their first or second GP term.

When undertaking your learning and supervision planning with your supervisor, registrars in their first or second GP term are encouraged to review the modules and consider which ones might be useful.

What's included in SupportGPT?

SupportGPT has many features:

- 1. Registrar modules: There are 16 modules that can be completed by registrars prior to an in-practice teaching session, and activities that can be completed during in-practice face-to-face teaching time with their supervisor.
- 2. Weekly in-practice teaching planner: This planner can be used in a flexible manner and may be used by a supervisor to guide in-practice weekly teaching sessions.
- 3. ResourceGPT: An index of over 1,300 clinical resources which are searchable and can be used in any order as problems present.

Who can access SupportGPT?

SupportGPT is only accessible by registrars in their first or second GP term.

Examples of how to use SupportGPT

Registrar Michael

Michael's supervisor is really great at helping out with all those little problems as they arise during the day. He is a fountain of knowledge and teaches a lot on the run. Michael is finding that his protected teaching time is not as useful as he would like. He asks the supervisor if they can use the SupportGPT modules and follow the weekly activities outlined in the term planner. Michael now has a structure to follow which suits his kind of learning. He now has a great learning plan which keeps him on track.

Registrar Tiffany

Tiffany is feeling overwhelmed by all that there is to learn as a registrar. She has heard that the fellowship exams are tough and that some of the exam components have a low pass rate. She is in a large group practice, and the in-practice teaching is often shared with other registrars. She finds a lot of the teaching useful, but sometimes feels that she needs to address her own learning needs a bit better. She works her way through all of the support GPT modules on her own and finds the activities and references very useful.

Medicare provider number reminder

If you are a GP registrar going into a GP term in 2017.2 (Aug- Feb), make sure you check the letter you have received from Medicare advising of your provider number approval.

Please ensure you have been issued with a provider number with full billing rights before you commence billing patients. Registrars with refer and request rights will only be able to refer patients and request investigations for them, until a provider number with full billing rights is received.

GP Synergy medical student scholarship recipient gets published

Congratulations to Belinda Watson on being lead author on a paper published in Australian Family Physician!

The paper is based on the study she undertook as a UNSW recipient of a GP Synergy Medical Student Scholarship in 2016.

Scholarship recipients are supported by GP Synergy to participate in research projects and undertake a community GP placement. Belinda's study investigated older patients and general practice follow-up after an emergency department admission.

There are currently 18 students from universities across NSW and ACT participating in the program. For more information visit our website.

RACGP Foundation Grant success

Congratulations to Prof Parker Magin and Dr Anthea Dallas, both recipients of RACGP Foundation Grants!

Dr Dallas will examine GP registrars' and their supervisors' attitudes to, and experience of, the use of delayed antibiotic prescribing for acute respiratory tract infections through a qualitative study.

Prof Magin's grant is for the AusTAPER (Team Approach to Polypharmacy Evaluation and Reduction) pilot study for older general practice patients.

Looking for a laugh? GP the Musical is coming to Sydney in September

Created by GPs, Drs Gerard Ingham and Genevieve Yates, and directed by A/Prof Katrina Anderson, GP the Musical made its debut at the General Practice Education and Training Conference in 2012, before featuring at the sold-out Melbourne International Comedy Festival in 2013.

The highly popular musical will be hitting the stage again, this time in Sydney at the NIDA studios in September.

Ten GPs from around Australia are involved in the production which includes NSW GP supervisors Drs Linda Mann and Hester Wilson, as well as Regional Head of Education – South Eastern NSW, Dr Allison Miller, and GP Synergy Director of Registrar Education, Dr Anna Sallos.

"Being a part of this has been a great experience!" says Dr Sallos.

"Anyone who has sat in a doctor's waiting room can relate to the play.

"If you want a good laugh and a night out with the family, come along!"

GP the Musical is showing at NIDA in Sydney from 14-17 September 2017. Bookings can be made from Ticketek.

GP registrar swimming the English Channel

Dr Rachele Silver will be swimming solo from Dover, UK to Calais, France in August. She is using her swim across the English Channel to raise funds for an organisation close to her heart – Perinatal Anxiety and Depression Australia (PANDA). PANDA offers the only specialist national perinatal mental health telephone counselling service, as well as reducing stigma around perinatal anxiety and depression, and providing education services to health professionals and the wider community.

You can read more about her amazing feat here: <https://www.mycause.com.au/page/150414/rachele-swims-the-english-channel-for-perinatal-mental-health>
