

GP Synergy stakeholder statement of intent

To achieve our vision of training highly skilled medical practitioners contributing to healthier local communities, GP Synergy must work with other stakeholders in the delivery of high-quality training experiences to improve the attraction and retention of GP registrars in NSW and ACT.

GP Synergy will engage with stakeholders at local and state-wide levels to enable students, junior doctors, registrars and fellows to experience high-quality general practice and rural generalist training. This engagement will aim to improve integration of training with their employment and wellbeing within a community prior to, during and following registrar training. This will be achieved by valuing the contribution of GP supervisors and leveraging the expertise and resources of other stakeholders also committed to strengthening general practice and rural generalism for the benefit of NSW and ACT local communities.

Productive relationships will be developed by:

Making interactions count

At all levels of GP Synergy, we will:

- listen to learn
- engage in dialogue that is transparent, honest, respectful and explores alternatives and possibilities.

GP Synergy staff will be empowered and supported to:

- look for flexible solutions to respond to individual and local needs as well as strategic priorities
- challenge and work towards overcoming barriers that do not make sense
- safely experiment, internally and with others, to find what works.

Collaborating for impact

We will work with our key stakeholders to:

- clarify roles and make it easier for others to understand who does what
- find solutions that overcome barriers and enhance two-way knowledge sharing.

We will work with interested stakeholders to identify opportunities to jointly invest in productive relationships and work on shared priorities that ultimately produce better health outcomes for NSW and ACT local communities.
